OUR HISTORY

Winery located in the almost-abandoned village of Lentille. The winery is about 400 years old. It was the winery of the Casa Grande de Lentille (a traditional Galician country-house-style manor owned by the feudal lords of the time), where villagers worked and produced wine in the current winery. I found it completely abandoned and in ruins, but I fell in love with it. I felt so crazy in love with it that I bought it right on sight. I restored it in two months and there my dream still stands... trying to produce wines with personality and history with vines that are over 60 years old.
