OUR HISTORY

The Guitián y Blanco Winery is a family-owned state winery that was created with the philosophy of producing excellent quality wines in one of the most widely deployed denominations of origin: Valdeorras. With a capacity of about 120,000 liters, it houses wines of the most representative varieties of this denomination: Godello and Mencía.

With a large area of land, our vineyards are located on the sunny slopes of Córrego, Villamartín de Valdeorras; where the highest and lowest temperatures in all of Galicia are recorded, as well as the lowest rainfall in the region.

This guarantees, together with the significant day / night thermal jumps, a good acidity for white wines, accompanied by slate soils, which provide the marked mineral character of the godellos.

The winery is equipped with the latest oenological technologies, where by applying new production techniques, together with technology and family tradition, we obtain these magnificent Godello and Mencía wines.
